Must-see Booths at Untitled Art Miami

With the Atlantic Ocean as a backdrop and sunlight streaming through its signature tent, Untitled Art, Miami Beach 2024 once again offered a vibrant start to Miami Art Week. Now in its 13th edition, the fair features its largest roster yet, with 176 galleries presenting works that span the globe and encapsulate the week's energy, diversity, and innovation. From contemplative installations to bold sculptural statements, the following booths stood out for their compelling presentations and thematic depth.

Yossi Milo

Yossi Milo Gallery's booth at Untitled Art, Miami Beach 2024 offers an exciting exploration of body, identity, and intimacy. Among the highlights, Shikeith's striking bronze sculptures of male nudes command attention with their intimate portrayal of vulnerability and strength. These powerful works evoke a sense of quiet dignity while challenging traditional representations of masculinity. Alina Perez's "La Solita" (2024), a large-scale work on paper, further amplifies the booth's theme, featuring two nude female figures intertwined in a tender embrace. The piece's softness and emotional depth offer a nuanced perspective on connection and the complexities of gender, making it a standout within the booth's cohesive narrative on the human experience.
